CHICAGO, July 31, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- Allscripts (NASDAQ: MDRX) has received the U.S. Health Provider Partner of the Year award from Microsoft Corp. in recognition of Allscripts innovation, collaboration and leadership contributions in the areas of patient and population health.

Microsoft's U.S. Health Provider Partner of the Year award recognizes the excellence and achievement of Microsoft industry partners that have produced exceptional results for customers, with a particular focus on impact in the healthcare industry.

"Healthcare needs innovation. "We are pleased to present Allscripts with this recognition and to highlight its exceptional accomplishments for patients, health consumers, providers and the entire healthcare information community."

Allscripts was recognized for the development of its innovative Allscripts Wand™ for Windows 8 application for PCs and tablets.
