

The Power of Allscripts at HIMSS16

February 29, 2016

Building Healthier Communities With Innovations That Inspire Smarter Care

CHICAGO, Feb. 29, 2016 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Visit Allscripts (NASDAQ:MDRX) at HIMSS booth #2612 to experience how Allscripts solutions, capabilities and Open platform are helping to drive the evolution to accountable and value-based care. Hear from Allscripts thought leaders about the future of health care:

The Power to Innovate – Precision medicine enables clinicians to customize care plans

- As part of the The National Immunotherapy Coalition \(NIC\), Allscripts and NantHealth are joining forces to accelerate combination immunotherapy as the next-generation standard of care in cancer patients. Allscripts Chief Executive Officer Paul Black and NantHealth founder Dr. Patrick Soon-Shiong, MD, will discuss how the two organizations are working together on the rollout of the Cancer Moonshot 2020 program. The presentation will be in the Allscripts booth on Tuesday, March 1, at 3:00 p.m. Pacific time.
- Joel Diamond, M.D., Allscripts Chief Medical Officer for Precision Medicine will address the growth of genomics and precision medicine and how it can help providers tailor treatment plans for patients. He will present in the booth on Tuesday, March 1 at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Pacific time.
- Best practices in user-centered design (UCD) can improve usability and patient safety. Join Ross Teague, Ph.D., Allscripts Senior Manager of User Experience on Tuesday, March 1 from 11:30 a.m. to noon Pacific time.

The Power to Predict – Analytics deliver clinical insights at the point of care

- Population Health Analytics (PHA) have the capability to improve public health by helping clinicians identify patient populations and glean insight from large, complex data sets. Learn more from Fatima Paruk, M.D., MPH, Allscripts Chief Medical Officer for Analytics in the booth on Wednesday, March 2 at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Pacific time.

The Power to Connect – Open approach fuels Health IT innovation

- Join Rich Elmore, Allscripts Senior Vice President of Business Development, at a pre-conference session “Facilitating Innovative Data Exchange and Re-Usability” on Monday, February 29, from 12:45 to 1:45 p.m. Pacific time. The session will examine new solutions to solving key barriers to interoperability.
- Open Application Programming Interfaces (APIs) are the first step toward a more interoperable ecosystem of Health IT applications and devices. Attend the CHIME-endorsed presentation, “Successfully Utilizing APIs for Integration Projects” on Thursday, March 3, from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m. Pacific time. Presenters include Allscripts Vice President of Development Erik Kins and Janet Mak from Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center.
