

Rothman Institute selects Allscripts® Practice Management to strengthen financial coordination and operational efficiency

September 7, 2017

Allscripts PM solution replaces Orthopedic organization's legacy system to maximize revenue

CHICAGO, Sept. 07, 2017 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- In the second quarter of 2017, Rothman Institute selected Allscripts (NASDAQ:MDRX) Practice Management as its core financial platform, replacing its legacy system. Allscripts PM will help Rothman Institute manage scheduling, collections, claims and denials, maximizing the organization's revenue.

Rothman Institute, based in Philadelphia, PA, is a global leader in Orthopedic science and technology. Rothman Institute's sports medicine team evaluates more than 80,000 sports injuries and performs more than 10,000 surgeries each year. Additionally, Rothman's clinical staff serves as team physicians for the Philadelphia Eagles, Philadelphia Flyers, Philadelphia 76ers and more than 40 local high schools and colleges.

Allscripts PM is a comprehensive revenue cycle management solution for physician practices and large hospital organizations. The solution helps physicians address some of the challenges they face today such as shifting from fee-for-service to value-based care, consolidation, meeting complex regulations and maximizing reimbursement. Allscripts PM's open architecture enables the sharing of patient information across multiple platforms and streamlines accounts receivable.

"Rothman Institute chose the Allscripts Practice Management solution because it closely aligns with our goals to continuously improve our financial and operational performance," said Rothman Institute's Chief Information Officer, Lancer Seaman. "The solution provides the tools we need to enhance revenue cycle operations and increase efficiencies of reimbursement processes and patient payments."

"We are honored to partner with the Rothman Institute to help the prestigious organization navigate the challenging financial and operational landscape of today's healthcare IT industry," said Allscripts Senior Vice President and General Manager Ambulatory Business Unit, Steve Lalonde. "Our goal is to help Rothman Institute get reimbursed for the services they provide and free up time and resources so they can focus on providing quality care to its community."
