The Office of the National Coordinator for Health Information Technology (ONC) Health IT Certification Program (Certification Program) ensures that Certified Health Information Technology meets the technological capability, functionality, and security requirements adopted by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). ONC approval certifies that Veradigm EHR has the functionality eligible clinicians need to successfully meet federal reporting requirements, including the latest 21st Century Cures Act regulations as well as participate in quality programs needing certified EHR technology.

Veradigm EHR is an ambulatory electronic health record (EHR) platform that is designed to support the needs of busy provider practices and allows clinicians to provide more informed patient care, streamline workflows, and improve practice profitability.

"This certification highlights Veradigm's focus in supporting independent physician practices with advanced EHR capabilities to meet the proper government reporting and regulations," said Tom Langan, Veradigm President and Chief Commercial Officer. "We're proud to be among the first EHRs to achieve this milestone and are committed to working with our clients to transform healthcare and advance value, insightfully."
