

The following letter was distributed to certain clients of Allscripts on June 9, 2010:

Dear (Valued Client):

Earlier this morning we announced that Allscripts and Eclipsys, leading providers of software and information solutions in the ambulatory and acute markets respectively, will merge. The result will be one company with the industry's largest network of clients on the most advanced product platform resulting in a single patient record.

Our focus as a company is to partner with you to transform today's disconnected healthcare system into a connected system of health, resulting in higher quality care for all Americans delivered at lower cost. Last year, our nation took an important step in that direction when the federal government allocated over $30 billion to support hospital and physician utilization of critical information technologies, focused primarily on the Electronic Health Record.

Today's announcement marks another significant step towards achieving the goal of connecting every link in the healthcare chain, delivering the information you need, when you need it. The first step, of course, is to provide great software and we will continue to invest in both the solutions you are using today as well as in the innovation you will need in the future.

The combined company will have the largest network of clients in the industry, with 180,000 U.S. physicians, 1,500 hospitals and 10,000 post acute care organizations. We will bring to market a single platform of clinical, financial, connectivity and information solutions. This will position us to seamlessly connect physicians, other care providers and patients no matter where care is provided - in the hospital, in small or large physician practices, in extended care facilities or in a patient's home – resulting in the unique ability to deliver a single patient record.

I am excited to have the opportunity to serve as the Chief Executive Officer of the combined company and Phil Pead, the Chief Executive Officer of Eclipsys, will serve as Chairman of our Board. The remainder of the leadership team will be drawn from the best of both companies, delivering continuity for you across both our team and our solutions.

This combined company will be an even stronger partner, delivering new benefits to you and your organization:

- Combines the leading ambulatory and acute solutions into a comprehensive, integrated end-to-end portfolio of solutions for healthcare organizations of every size and setting.
- Brings to market a complete portfolio of clinical, financial, connectivity, and information solutions.
- Accelerates a rapid implementation approach that both companies share, enabling our clients to quickly attain "Meaningful Use".

- Continues our shared track record of innovation and delivers ‘future state’ clinical and financial informatics capabilities that will enable organizations to provide higher quality care and operate more efficiently.
 - Connects you to a network of 180,000 U.S. physicians, 1,500 hospitals and 10,000 nursing homes, hospices, home care and other post acute care organizations.

While we believe the combination of Allscripts and Eclipsys represents a significant step forward for healthcare, you can be assured that our commitment to you will not change:

- We will continue to maintain a laser focus on meeting your organization’s needs both today and into the future.
- We will deliver on our roadmap commitments across our portfolio.
- We are fully committed to enabling you to earn “Stimulus” incentives by providing you with ARRA-certified solutions.
- The team that supports you today will not change. In fact we fully expect that we will hire staff in key areas including service and support.

Independent of this merger, Allscripts and Eclipsys had already started the process of integrating our respective solutions based on requests from our mutual clients. The fact that we share a common Microsoft platform will enable us to quickly deliver robust data sharing and exchange. In addition to connecting our own solutions, our ‘open architecture’ approach will simplify connectivity with third party applications.

We expect that the merger will close in the Fall. Until then, Allscripts and Eclipsys will continue to operate as independent entities and you will continue to be supported by the same team. With that said, Allscripts and Eclipsys have been and will continue to work together with a number of our joint clients.

For more information, I would encourage you to visit www.oneallscriptseclipsys.com where you will find a video explaining the merger, answers to the most frequently asked questions and the press release. We will also keep you updated through our client newsletter and, certainly, we will have an opportunity to talk in person at our upcoming Allscripts Client Experience conference in early August.

As always, I want to thank you for your confidence in us and your support. I look forward to continuing our partnership with you to turn the vision of a connected system of health into a reality for your providers, your patients and your community.

Sincerely,

Glen Tullman
Chief Executive Officer
Allscripts
